

Bhool Bhulaiyaa is a drama released in 2011 that revolves around the lives of five childhood friends in Mumbai. The film is an emotional journey through the friendship, relationship, family ties and love of these children with their religion being Islam. It was written by Naseeruddin Shah and Ashutosh Gowariker. The actors are Zayed Khan, Vijay Raaz, Kirron Kher, Nawazuddin Siddiqui and Ruby Raykka. The movie was highly criticized for its deradicalizing themes in India for it had no antagonists or villains. The film also received negative reviews for the same reason. The film opens with Sheikh (Zayed Khan) in a car with one passenger in an unknown locality in Mumbai. The Sheikh asks the passenger to give him the phone to make a call. He dials someone's number and asks him where he is. The person tells him that he is at his office. The Sheikh tells him that he is at his office too owing to which the person says, "So are you." The Sheikh responds, "I'm here." And hands back the phone to the man, who was listening to it accidentally. The Sheikh walks to a house and knocks at the door. The driver tells him that he is at the office. The Sheikh says, "I'm there too." And he also takes back the phone from the driver. The driver then asks, "How do I get out of here?" "In Bollywood? It should be easy," replied the man, who was afraid of getting beaten up by a passenger for not knowing his way out. He turns around and asks the Sheikh how to get to his home which is right there. Seeing that it might be hard to find his residence with no idea whatsoever of where he is going, the Sheikh decides to call a cab for him. The Sheikh goes in a car with a passenger in an unknown locality in Mumbai. The passenger tells the Sheikh that he is going to a construction site which is nearby. The Sheikh replies, "I'm going there too," and takes back the phone from the passenger. The next morning, the driver looks at the address of his house and finds that it doesn't look familiar to him at all. He then calls his wife and asks her where their house actually is. She responds that she does not know because she has never been there before too. Hearing this, he hits himself on his head and says, "So am I. I have never been here. I have never been there. I have no idea where I am going or where I have been. And then how can you even ask me to find a way out of here?" He then asks his wife if she is pregnant, and she says that she is not, but he states that he is. The driver goes back to the construction site and tells the Sheikh, "I don't even know the way to our house." The Sheikh looks behind him and he can't see any other area besides that one. He then asks, "How do you get out of here?" But the driver doesn't reply because he has no idea what he means by 'here'.
